Dear Bradley E.,

We don't want to waste your time today, so we'll just say it:
Unfortunately, we did not select '10 Years & 9 Days' for our 2007 program at South by Southwest (SXSW).

SXSW received a record amount of submissions this year (approx. 3100), making the selection process even more competitive and the overall quality higher than ever before. We assure you that your submission was given full consideration, and we thank you for considering SXSW when you looked at festivals in which to submit. If you're interested in feedback about your submission, we request that you contact us in April, when we will have more time to discuss it with you.

We hope that you continue to submit later work to SXSW, and hope to see you at the festival, either in 2007 or the future. If you'd like information on attending SXSW 2007 (and receiving the filmmaker badge rate), please contact us at film@sxsw.com.

It should be said again, we apologize for the inconvenience and look forward to the opportunity to showcase your work in future festivals. Thank you for your patience during this long selection process.

All our best,

The SXSW Film Conference & Festival=
